

Tategoi of the year

All the previous months Judge's Choice koi lined up to compete for our coveted AKA Annual Tategoi of the Year competition. Guest Judge this year was Mary Cohen who remarked at the overall quality of the koi on show, which is a credit to the breeders. In the end she awarded the Showa bred by Terry McNeil and Lex Rayment as the outright winner and congratulated them on such a remarkable young koi.

This makes it two years in a row for Terry and Lex and we expect to see fierce competition with our monthly table shows through out 2010, as at recent meetings the number and quality of young koi on display, has been constantly increasing.
